From the President

Dear Friends and Supporters,

In 2022, NorCal Public Media has focused on environmental education for youth in our community. Our loyal members, viewers, and listeners tell us their main concerns about our collective future are the well-being of today's youth and the health of our environment.

*Darren LaShelle
President and CEO*

Our Bay Area Bountiful documentary series presented a focus on climate change in the Bay Area this year and highlighted programs that young people are participating in, or leading, to forge a path to a greener future, including the Mycelium Youth Network. The group uses role playing games to explore how to protect and preserve our natural resources. We also launched an initiative for young adults on YouTube called My Planet, My Voice exploring climate issues, and offering young people the opportunity to appear in their own videos as they work on climate change issues.

Please consider an end-of-year donation to NorCal Public Media to support these important projects that are having an impact on young lives today, and a positive impact on the environment tomorrow.
